

Phonograph

Overview The Phonograph is the official publication of the Music Undergraduate Student's Association. It is published four times a year, with issues in October, December, February, and April. The Phonograph is a service provided by MUSA for the use and benefit of music students. It offers information that is of interest and importance to the student community, creates a public forum where thoughts and ideas can be heard, and enriches the student culture of the music faculty. We are always looking for writers! Take note of the submission due dates for each issue posted on the window of the Phonograph office (E-109). Try to contact us in advance about any ideas you have for articles. PDF versions of previous issues are available here.
